So, for the first week of December, we have visited three restaurants that we felt had an impeccable experience. The first night began at Tom's. We ordered the house Madeira. Tom's is a new venture from two friends from South Carolina. It's a beautiful restaurant in the heart of the historic district. Next, we had the Carolina Style Smoked Ham, Smoked Sausage, and Roasted Gouda. Both starters were phenomenal. The second day, we headed to Lillian's for lunch. The menu featured a great variety of sandwiches and salads. We started with the Shrimp Sandwich on a French Baguette. The freshness of the shrimp was outstanding. Next, we had the Homemade Soup of the Day. On this day, it was a Maine Lobster Bisque. The soup was wonderful. The lobster was tender and extremely flavorful. Day three found us at Elsie's Kitchen, right down the street from Lillian's. The food at Elsie's has been changing over the last year. They are now offering dinners as well as lunches. The menu features a variety of
