Space Bound is a futuristic, sci-fi, Strategy Shooter game. In the year of 2353, the earth has become a toxic wasteland that can only be grown by using Resources to flourish into a New Earth. The world is practically dead. With the attempt to turn on the sun, the world has started to freeze over. In this poor state, the humans have finally gone extinct. But with the remaining few human survivors, the Game is a battle to keep the world alive. The story of Space Bound revolves around the Amelie, a character who is an orphan from the planet Jorek. Her race, the Kesh, are the only survivors of the dying planet and are a warrior race that can control Amelie. On the planet of Jorek, Amelie and her few remaining companions had been living in the man's basements. The planet is slowly dying, the only chance for survival is to reach the sun. Amelie has gone through the final stage of the transformation and is now flying towards the sun. But the development of the planet of Jorek is at a dead end. The closest access point is known as the Terrashore and it has been discovered that the planet is already stuck on the star, no matter how hard the planet tries, it is futile. But that is not the only problem. On the Terrashore, there is the Spacebound Station. The Spacebound Station is also a major player in this final war. The player is forced to fight a giant robot called the Wyrd and the station's AI and crew are also all a major threat. The AI controls the station as well as the robots; if they detect that the Amelie is going to be heading to the sun, they will attempt to stop Amelie using their production line. Their production line is capable of producing some horrible weapons that will do a lot of damage to the Amelie. The crew, who can all be promoted to soldier or assistant, will attempt to bring Amelie back, but will be reckless if they fire their weapons. They are also forced to work against their own kind, humans. Along with the AI and the crew, there is another threat: The robot. The robots are capable of being made in three stages, the primitive ones require brute force, the advanced robots are much more intelligent. The advanced robots are capable of small craft, like the Wrt, which are like land based robots, and the massive W.G.B.

What's new in BuriedTown:

! Great news for Freshwater Natives. More and more, Africans and indigenous peoples are joining us in our struggle for land rights in South Africa. All rivers run towards Singani Tsonga houses. They have called themselves Shona for centuries, along with their clan. A wonderful documentary, "When I Bring Home Your Picture" by Memzhi Barlow, can be found on Youtube, but I ask anyone who has not seen it to send me the link! Hi everyone, I posted this one since it's in the Sesame place. I'm Ainy Gueche, I'm Kgao and we have a small Chicannya community in Tigarigwah Nort Bayntize and I miss this village. It's a new project we have and we carry out painting, drawing, cooking and this cultural life of the community. What was this agreement in the past? I can't find it anywhere. Is it still there? Exactly one hour ago, the news that we were expecting today happened! More than 4 years have passed since then. The court case of Oscar Pinilla and the other sued in the Complementarity Agreement goes to trial on Tuesday, April 30, 2014 in the State's High Court at 30 Sone Street in Pretoria. Oscar Pinilla is one of the plaintiffs who challenged the validity of the Complementarity Agreement and thus, who claimed that the Complementarity Agreement was unconstitutional. It is important to mention that the agreement in question, which was signed in September 2007, created a real settlement between the landless herders and cattle farmers of the most affected area, in an essay known as the “Complementarity Zone”. Pinilla argued that the Complementarity Agreement was invalid and that the defendants did not comply with any constitutional and legal requirements to legislate it. So the final ruling would decide whether the Complementarity Agreement is valid or not. During his long years of struggle, Oscar Pinilla has gone into one Court after the other in order to try and make the Complementarity Agreement null and void. The Complementarity Agreement in question was signed on September 3, 2007 by the Ministry of Agriculture, Land Affairs and Fisheries, the then National Director Mr. Rentze Makalani and representatives of the Ngwane-Tsanaga project, including the Ngwane claimant, Oscar Pinilla and the Ng
