Sunday, Nov. 11. The case is under investigation. Carter County Sheriff's Deputies responded to a report of a man drunk driving at 0.4 mile west of Murray on Monday, Nov. 12.1. Field of the Invention The present invention is directed to a protective device for an electrically powered hand tool. Such tools include, by way of example, grinders, sanders, cutoff tools, and the like. 2. Description of Related Art There are a variety of known protective devices for electrically powered hand tools. U.S. Pat. Nos. 5,098,218 and 5,056,946 are illustrative of such devices. These patents disclose protective devices for tools which are held and used by the tool operator through a tong-like arm. The tong-like arm is permanently attached to a handle of the tool. The protective devices in these patents also work with the tool handle. While the patents disclose protective devices with safety measures, they fail to provide for the separation of the tool from the protective device when the tool is to be removed from the protective device and are thus subjected to loss of the tool. It is also noted that these protective devices are attached to the tool handle aa67ecbc25

POLITICAL theater. It might not be described as the best of times for British Prime Minister Theresa May but, after a campaign that has seen her in the center of prime-time TV and one of the country's biggest party conferences in 25 years, it is safe to say that the election is not going to be one of her most challenging. That is why the results of this weekend's Belgian primary — in which more than a third of all voters who have registered to vote will cast their ballot — could be so important. As Tom Mockridge, political editor of Dutch News agency ANP, explains, there is a "lack of clarity on who" the voters will support. For some, it will be a statement of intent about Europe. For others, an expression of the discontent over "low growth, high unemployment and several years of being the punching bag
