I need the single files, not the folders in your particular example. You can do this, in Windows, by running the following command: dir /S /B > "C:\Users\username\Desktop\downloads\dirfixed.txt" (You may have to replace "username" with your actual user name). Then, use any text editor to edit the files in the fixed.txt file. Hopefully, there's only one file that has a .rar extension and that doesn't have an extension. Here's what I can suggest: a) If your Windows command line is case-sensitive (which is the default) then you need to run this command: dir /S /B > C:\Users\username\Desktop\downloads\dirfixed.txt b) If you don't want to be case sensitive in your naming then you can do this: dir /S /B > C:\Users\username\Desktop\downloads\dirfixed.txt -name ".rar" What I've done is modified the command by adding an additional -name ".rar" option, which means to only output the files that end in.rar. You'll notice that I have deliberately chosen the directory path to be C:\Users\username\Desktop\downloads\ which matches your folder structure.
