A comparative study of the toxicity of cyclothiazide in the BALB/c mouse and in humans. There have been recent reports of the successful treatment of children with cyclothiazide-induced cystitis with T-CYS, a drug formulated for treating cystitis in women. Therefore, the present study was carried out to determine if the same drug would be effective in the treatment of cyclothiazide-induced cystitis in the BALB/c mouse. The results indicated that, while cyclothiazide was toxic, T-CYS was not. Cystitis occurred only when 300-mg/kg of cyclothiazide was administered intraperitoneally to 7-wk-old male BALB/c mice. Time and dose responses showed that cyclothiazide toxicity in mice was dose-dependent and peaked at around 3 days after administration. Administration of T-CYS, in doses ranging from 10 mg/kg/day to 150 mg/kg quality of projection X-ray films on the detection of posterior mandibular third molars]. The authors observed the projections (41.2s) of the posterior mandibular third molars in 41 patients (103 teeth) by the technique of lateral cephalometry. They used two intra-oral radiological systems, the Panoramic Siemens GmbH, PSD and the i-CAT Kodak, IMK. The image quality was evaluated in each case by three examiners using a scheme proposed by the Brazilian Society of Orthodontics and Dentofacial Orthopedics. The result showed that the film was adequate for the diagnosis of the morphology of the posterior mandibular third molar;

however, high dose exposure to the patient was evidenced by the intra-oral radiological system. The exposer was then diminished. Diyarbakir Diyarbakir is a city in south-eastern Turkey, from the capital of Ankara in the Şanlıurfa province. The city is situated on the Kızılırmak River, a tributary of the Tigris river, and is the capital of Diyarbakır Province. The population of Diyarbakır is estimated to be 1,794,000. History Diyarbakır is the fourth largest city of Turkey by population, and was founded in 1828 by the Ottomans. During the Arab Turkmen (Ottoman) period from the 16th century onwards, Diyarbakır was a largely unknown backwater town in an era of centralised power held by the Ottoman sultans in Istanbul. Even as late as the 16th century, the sultan's family took up residence in Ankara, and it was not until the 17th century that Diyarbakır began to grow in importance when it became a customs post. In 1828, in the aftermath of the Russo-Turkish War of 1828-29, Sultan Mahmud II began to press for reunification of the provinces of Erzurum,
