Latest Answers for Best Answer Mastering Science Workbook 2A, 2B Corrigendum Workbook 2A Updated in July 2016 Arundel Castle Our family has been to Arundel castle for years, and we go back with a smile on our faces. Arundel castle is an imposing and resplendent fortress and garden. One of the castles which Henry the Eighth and Queen Catherine of Aragon spent their childhood at, the castle has a strong and close relationship with the Tudors and Stuarts. Because of this, the castles history is firmly intertwined with the royal line. The castle is set in a beautiful location, with parkland and woodland areas surrounding it. The castle is undergoing a massive restoration, which has been completed, but you can still visit the gardens. In fact, when we went we saw a ceremony just concluding. There is a beautiful range of gardens surrounding the castle, with the Constable's Tower towering over the other buildings. When you visit, you can walk around the castle grounds, which are divided into separate zones. The castle itself is divided into three sections: the moated area, the chapel, and the Tudor section. Arundel Castle sells tickets for each section individually, but if you buy a single ticket, you can get into all of them. Inside, the castle is divided into different areas. The Tudor section contains the dining room, Banqueting Hall, the Chapel, the Duke's Apartments, and several of the private apartments. The Tudor section includes some of the most stunning Tudor architecture, including the Banqueting Hall, the Duke's Apartments, and the King's Apartments. The Chapel is the most interesting part of the castle, as it houses an immense collection of Catholic artwork. It was used by Henry VIII to conduct Mass, and is a must see. The chapel is divided up by the Convent, whose calm and serene atmosphere is pleasant for people visiting the castle. The Convent and Chapel are part of the tour, and you can wander around freely. The gardens, which you can also visit, are awe-inspiring, and make for a wonderful day out. The gardens are divided into three parts. The fore-court, or parterre, is covered with arched hedges and contains a fantastically beautiful fountain. The herb garden is divided into four areas, each with its own themes
