Greetings, dear readers! I am looking for a book that I read about 3 years ago and am wondering if you all can help. In the book there was an Alexander Castillo, a judge who ruled by both law and God. I can't remember what else was in the book but I remember he had the symbols of Hercules on a judge's hand and he had an army of helpers that worked with him. I can remember that a good many of the helpers were angels and that they worked very hard to serve him. They worshiped him with great devotion and fidelity. They fought in the war. They traveled many thousands of miles a day to make sure that he ruled correctly and swiftly. They were many in number.

A large portion of the work was done with a clairvoyant force. I am not sure that is spelled correctly, but the force was made of a number of lights (souls) and they worked together. They were not the lights in the head and they were seen by the eyes. Anyone who knows of this please help. It was an organization that worked with the spirits of those who do not have a human body (The noncorporeal, invisible or immaterial beings). I do not have a source to back this up, but I do have a website on it. Godspeed, Posted on 21 Oct. 2006 | [Reply][Reply] [Trackback] [Trackback] Alex, I am a little confused. When I refer to a spirit what I am thinking about is the spirit that accompanies a soul in the spirit world. To my mind a spirit can only accompany one soul and a soul can only leave one body. So, I do not think the spirit referred to by the author of the book that you are speaking about, had a body. I am currently reading "The Fountain of Youth" by John Wehrly, and I have not gotten as far as 0cc13bf012

Stereospecific cyclization of aromatic nucleophiles: a general route to 1-substituted indolizines and quinolizines. A novel, facile, and efficient approach toward 1-alkyl and 1-benzyl-substituted quinolizines has been developed. The strategy employs electrophilic aromatic substitution followed by reductive cyclization using DIBAL-H. In contrast to the conventional synthesis of quinolizines, a substitution of the nitrogen atom is achieved in a stereospecific manner in the presence of a chiral lanthanide complex.
