"The game takes place in a sci-fi world where those who exist are born, live, die and are born again for a series of missions. You play the "job" of a soldier which is as simple as it gets to make money. After you are done with your mission (which takes care of your needs) you will die and awake in the afterlife. You find a very literal "very" different afterlife in which you are given a one way ticket to begin your "next" life." About The Game No Body Home: "No Body Home was created by a five-man team based in Uppsala, Sweden. The game was developed internally within Linkyr. Think about a game like Mass Effect, but where you are only given money from missions which you use to buy new limbs and upgrades. No Body Home makes its foundation on a simple idea that gives a lot of mechanics and I think that is worth keeping as a cornerstone in game design." No Body Home is a beautiful game, a Sci-Fi thing. Story Mode: - In Story Mode, you play as a new recruit being sent to a new planet. As you find yourself on the planet, you must complete several tasks, earn money and upgrade your equipment. When you're done in Story mode, you will be given a score. The higher the score, the better the mission. - The Story mode has a few variables such as race, and gender. - In the end there will be a card handed to you, which is supposed to be your gender. - The game does not actually have a story mode. Freerun Mode: "In the freerun mode, you play as a procedurally generated character who does not know how he ended up here." No Body Home is a beautiful game, a Sci-Fi thing.
