What's new:

Frye If you're new here, you may want to subscribe to my RSS feed. Thanks for visiting! If you want to show some love to the best way to dress, these late-1840s clothes are for you. What I'm referring to is the new Assassin's Creed Syndicate "Victorian Legends Outfit", available for Jacob Frye in Assassin's Creed Syndicate. To prove I'm not making this up, I've bought one myself, and you can see it in the pictures. We're expecting that her outfit will be available to other characters as DLC in the near future. If you wanna get a look at how the outfit looks like on Jacob Frye you can check the gameplay from the E3 trailer, which you can see below. All you have to do is let us know what you think and what you think of this new outfit by leaving some comments below. These two are usually fighting each other in this game. And fighting is how your character will look. You'd better start collecting money.

Advertisements Filed in: Comments First off all, I like clothing, and I know it's not Assassin's Creed if that's the best you can do with our protagonist - well, I'm just saying. Secondly, it's a clothing set, and it's not coming free. You know that. You've been saying that ever since then I started following this franchise. Honestly, I'm not really fond of this character because he's so generic and I wish this outfit were like all the others. The costumes on this game are like those from the first two, which I didn't like a lot. I don't like the protagonist here because it's a broken character, you have all these points explaining to you what he's going to do, what he's supposed to say, and his opinions etc. Whenever I've played the first two, I just played it like that, because I didn't want to get into this little story to start with. I also think that the advertising posters are a bit too stereotypical, it's like you're putting everything in this game in a certain context based on their portrait.
