NO Most free robux generators are flagged as bots so that they can't get you banned, but a few legit generators work like that. While some may say they are bots, most legit robux generators are just modded Roblox accounts with some built in tools. Do the are free robux generators, not just bots? NO We understand that there are Roblox players who do not have the time to play, or even use Robux, but we still have some free robux generators for you. Here's what you need to know! The answer is YES Are there any free robux generators without any hidden ties to your account? The answer is NO Only four free robux generators were available to use when we made this poll. That, and the fact that this topic is far more popular, means that many developers are creating free robux generators for us to test, so they can use them in their games. Unfortunately, some of these free robux generators were found to be scams. But that's the only ones available right now. So now, you have a few choices. The answer is YES Many people who visit this topic are thinking that they have been scammed, and that their free robux generators are impostors. They think that the people who use them are lying, because the people behind the projects are the ones who are making money from the projects. They are not. They are not doing it to make money. They are doing this to help the developers' games and to help out more Roblox players. How can we know? It is really simple. When you download any free robux generator that is available, it will usually start downloading and pop up a message that tells you: This is a scam This is a free robux generator This is a legit free robux generator You can try each of these out, and see which one is legit and which ones are scams. If you are curious, try searching for Google for other "free robux generators" to see if you can find more scams. If you want to know the real answer, the best
